

GUIDELINES FOR PAYMENT OF CDC DUES REGARDING MAINTENANCE OF INVESTOR ACCOUNT

Following options are available for IAS account holders to pay their dues of Investor Account Services (IAS):

1. Through pay order, demand draft, cross cheque in favor of Central Depository Company of Pakistan Limited or through cash deposit at any of the CDC Investor Account Services Branches as detailed below.
2. IAS Account holder can make payments through online transfer to the CDC bank accounts as mentioned below. In such event, IAS Account holders should inform CDC about online transfer along with proof of payment details at info@cdcpak.com via their registered email address, enabling us to credit the funds realized in the bank.
3. By deposit of pay order, demand draft, cross cheque in favor of Central Depository Company of Pakistan Limited or through cash deposit at any of the designated branches of United Bank Limited (UBL) as detailed overleaf.

NOTE:

- a) Credit will be given to the respective IAS account once the cheque is realized in CDC's respective bank account. In case of cash deposit, there is a maximum limit of Rs. 5000 that can be deposited at any of the counters of CDC Investor Account Services.
- b) For payment of dues at the designated branches of UBL as mentioned overleaf, Investor Account Holder must fill the deposit slip specifically designed for CDC Investor Account holders. While filling the special deposit slip, please ensure to mention the following:

Participant ID

Investor Account number

Title of Account

The amount to be deposited

If Payment is being made through the cross cheque/pay order/demand draft then details of the instrument will be required.

- c) The bank will deduct service charges i.e. Rs. 35 from the amount deposited by the IAS customers.
